

STEPHEN FOSTER FOLK CULTURE CENTER STATE PARK

Located on the beautiful Suwannee River, Stephen Foster Folk Culture Center State Park celebrates North Florida's natural beauty, regional craftsmanship and a legendary American composer.

This unique state park is named in honor of Stephen Foster, who composed "Old Folks at Home," Florida's state song. Visitors to the 888-acre park can tour the Stephen Foster Museum and Carillon Tower, or canoe or kayak the Suwannee. The trails are perfect for hiking and biking. Camping and cabins are available. In the Craft Square, working artists and craftsmen share their skills.

Special events throughout the year include an Antique Tractor Show, Quilt Show, Rural Folklife Days and the prestigious Florida Folk Festival. Elderhostel programs on natural history and local culture are offered during the winter months for adult leisure and learning. School field trips occur throughout the year. Group tours can also be arranged, and facilities are available for meetings and events. Campground programs on a variety of topics are offered every weekend from October through April.

The park also features a beautiful gift shop offering an array of arts and crafts, regional foods, jewelry, toys, Florida books and music, and Stephen Foster memorabilia.
